

I strongly oppose Broadband over Power Line (BPL) carrier technology, which would use existing electrical power lines to deliver high speed (i.e., broadband) internet services to homes and businesses. Because it would use frequencies between 2 and 80 MHz, our amateur allocations would be affected if such systems are deployed. The interference on the HF bands WOULD be devastating.